3rd BALTIC YOUNG INFECTOLOGISTS CONFERENCE

March 24 – 25, 2023

LATVIA

Dear infectologists, hepatologists, laboratory specialists and young doctors – prospective infectologists!

On behalf of the Latvian Infectologists, Hepatologists and HIV/AIDS specialists association (LIHHASA), I'm delighted to invite you to the 3rd Baltic Young Infectologists Conference to be held in Riga, Latvia from 24 – 25 of March, 2023.

Previous meetings gave us an opportunity to meet Baltic colleagues involved in different infectology areas, and to discuss the most important aspects of Hepatitis, HIV/AIDS problems, influenza, antibacterial resistance and other actual infectology topics. Now we are going to continue to cooperate and to share our experiences. Last 3 years has brought a lot of challenges because of Covid-19 infection and Monkeypox. Upcoming meeting will give an opportunity for our young colleagues to present their scientific works or interesting clinical cases, which will allow us to see the scientific tendencies from youngest colleagues, as well as experienced professors will present the State-of-art lectures. The conference will educate, inform and offer inspiration for future challenges.

I look forward to seeing you in our wonderful city Riga in next spring.

Sincerely
Ieva Tolmane
President of Organizing Committee
